sistently circulated the rumor that Mr-Carthy was a prohibitionist and would at once upon his advent into the office of Mayor, order a local option election.

The liquior people forced an issue, and having staked all, against the best judgment of their friends, they lost, and were driven from the field.

Other Obstacles.

Other Obstacles.

But this was not all. Captain MeCarthy had against him, a large percentage of the working people and of the municipal officers and employes. He had to meet and combat on every hand
the suggestion that he was wild and erratic, and his enemies were active in accentuating these objections. What is called in common political parlance the "machine," was almost solidly for Mayor Taylor, and the betting was two and three to one that way from the start.
But on the McCarthy side swung the strong, unswerving business element in almost solid phalanx, supported loyally
in their efforts for their game leader,
by the great conservative middle classes,
who bow the knee to no leader, and who know not of the ins and outs of political organization.

Captain McCarthy's fight was an up-hill one from the start, and he won prac-tically without an organization, by stirring the untrained masses by the most brilliant stump canvass ever made for public office in Richmond. All day long in the drenching rain the contending forces stood at the polling places throughout the city, the Taylor side being largely managed by the liquor forces and local politicians. Both the candidates moved about from poll to poll and cheered and encouraged their poll, and cheered and encouraged their supporters,

Battled in the Storm.

At nearly every precinct a young army of volunteers stood and battled for McCarthy during the day and though cheerless reports would come from every source they never wavered in their devotion and their constancy was the talk of old political leadless.

reply which set all in a lit of merriment.
"I used to be a Confederate soldier," said the eminent divine, "but at present I am engaged in fighting the devil."
An interesting incident occurred at Sanger Hall last night when the result had become known. Chairman Doherty invited Mayor Taylor and Captain McCarthy to confer with him on the stage. carthy to confer with him on the stage. The latter moved forward with apparent reluctance, while the former came with quick, clastic step. The chairman suggested that each name two friends to watch the trunk containing the ballots during the night. Captain McCarthy readily assented and gave in the names of two friends, but Mayor Taylor decifined and said he would leave it all to the chairman. The latter ordered the trunk to be taken to the Second Police Station for safe keeping.

If it had been previously arranged to have the precincts report so as to keep the Taylor hopes up to the last and then dash them all violently over a precipice of despair, the programme would not have worked more to this end.

The Third Madison was the first to have worked more to this end.

• Third Madken was the first to e in, and it went for the Mayor.

• came Fourth Madison, which is old

• the Jackson, and it increased the tor lead by nearly one hundred.

• Taylor precincts then piled in
dly, on one another, the hopes of the or's friends being now sumplanted by rapidly on one another, the hopes of the Mayor's friends being now supplanted by apparent confidence. He reached a lead of over five hundred before there was any serious break, but the feathers of the Taylor people fell when, at II o'clock, with about five precincts out. Clyde W. Saunders, always a game and cheerful loser, gave up the fight for his favorite. In thirty minutes from that time the Taylor people had departed in sorrow, and the proud and enthusiastic supporters of Captain McCarthy were yelling and cheering themselves hoarse for their leader. It was nearly 12:30 when old First Clay told the tale and put Captain McCarthy in the lead for the old First Clay told the tale and put Captain McCarthy in the lead for the first time and saved the day for him beyond dispute. The battle was a great one, and will never be forgotten by the people of Richmond.

Rapidly the dense throng that a few moments before had packed the hall began to pour out, for it was half an hour past midnight when the result was positively known. Soon there were left only the busy members of the City Committee sitting at tables figuring up totals and verifying their figures, and Mayor-elect McCarthy, Mr. Charles Millihier, who was delegated by him to see that the trunk containing the ballots, and returns was safely and securely sealed and carried to the Second Police Station, where they will be kept under guard. To-day the ballots will be help under guard. To-day the ballots will be locked up in a safety deposition as to the accuracy of the result or any possible demand for a recount. MAJOR ALLEN PASSES OUT

For Many Years a Prominent Figure in the Board-Detail Tables.

More than two-thirds of the present nembership of the lower branch of the City Council were renominated at the primary yesterday. Of the total number chosen, thirty-five, eleven of them are new men. Four of the present membrship of th lower branch wer defeated— Messrs. Heslep, Teefy, Whalen, J. W. Allen. Messrs. Hicks, Crenshaw, Bossleux, O'Neil, Bloomberg, Hargrove

There were but few changes made in the Board membership. Three men go in from Henry Ward—Messrs, Blair and Grundy being the new ones, and Mr. Burton an old member. Two of the old aldermen were defeated—jajor Allen and Mr. Bahen. They were succeeded by Messrs, Dabney and Rennolds.

Two of the old familiar figures in the Board of Aldermen will disappear with the reorganization.

ACTIVE LEADER GONE.

Major Otway S. Allen has for years been an active leader in the upper branch. He was looked upon as a sort of watchedog of the treasury, and served on the important Finance and Street Committees, where his influence was widely felt.

Committees, where his influence was widely felt.

As chairman of the Street Committee he exercised a strenuous gavel, and it was due largely to his counsel that many of the improvements to the streets, particularly in the West End, were made.

M. Bahen was a member of the Street Committee for some years. He was eriginally elected to Council as a Republican from Jackson Ward, where for a long time he held great influence with the colored vote. Several years ago he came into the Democratic party, and has came into the Democratic party, and may once since been elected by his constituents as a Democrat.

party of the city, Mr. Bahen's constituency was divided, He was unable to control the old Monroe Ward vote, and went down in the battle of ballots.

WAS BARELY DEFEATED,

Mr. Heslep was barely defeated in Clay Ward. He was chosen two years ago, when a big fight was made on certain members of the Street Committee. He succeeded Mr. William Glosen trop that ward by a close vote, and bore the distinction of being the boy member.

Mr. J. M. N. Allen at present represents Marshall Ward. The switch about of the wards placed him in Jefferson Ward, but he was not strong enough to beat out the other old men from that ward.

Messrs. Teefy and Whalen got lost in the maelstrom that wiped Jackson Ward. There were not enough new men in Council to interfere materially with a reorganization on the old lines.

Messrs. Hicks, Clowes, Bloomberg, Onelli, Hargrove, Bossleux and Crenshaw were strong men, and will be missed from the City's Council Chamber. The newmen are looked upon as strong ones, Mr. Griggs is well known as a labor leader, and the new members from Monroe Ward are first class business men. Mr. Dickerson has stood in Council halls before, and Messrs, Corley and Well will infuse energetic blood into the affairs of State. Mr. Fergusson comes back after a short rest, and Messrs, Umlauf and Don Leavy are most capable men, the latter having been a member some years ago.

The new Aldermen will grace their places in the Chamber, and Richigond the new City Fathers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FORD, VA. April 28.—This section was visited by a severe wind and hall storm this afternoon. The wind blew down many large trees, and the hall was a "sight to behold," lying on the ground like her eggs.

A lady picked up a piece of hall forty minutes after the storm had subsided that measured four inches.

The house of Mr. J. E. Young was damaged by the beating off of the paint and breaking several large window glasses. There are hundreds of window glasses broken out in this town. Some houses are almost bereft of window lights. One house is reported as having the steel roofing blown off.

Some dry goods boxes setting on a store porch were blown off and torn all to pieces, Great damage was done to all young vegetables and crops.

(By Associated Fress.)

ROME, April 26.—President Loubet today drove to the Plazza D'Armi with Queen Helena and reviewed 29,000 troops.
The President expressed to King Victor Emmanuel the highest satisfaction with the efficiency and martial bearing of the troops, especially admiring the Bersagtlere, who with their quick step and waving cock feathers in their hats,
marched past in their most characteristie manner.

M. Loubet and the King later visited the Roman forum, where they were received by Professor Beni, director of excavations, who in their presence unearthed their prehistoric tombs.

As Loubet left the spot he said the forum was most inspiring, as bein the cradle of the Latin race. This evening the French president received in private audience each of the ambassadors separately. He was most cordini to United States Ambassador Meyer and made him
sit down by his side.

(By Associated Press.)
LOLISVILLE, KY., April 28.—Mrs.
Mary Bass, the original "Mrs. Wiggs, of the Cabbage Patch," was presented in Police Court to-day on the charge of throwing a jar on the head of Mrs. Emiiy Smith, of Hazlewood, a suburb of Louisville. The scene occurred in the rear of Mrs. Bass's domicife whither Mrs.
Smith went after repeated knocks at the front door, failed to gain a response.
Mrs. Bass contended that her life has been made miserable by the visits of people from all sections and climes who were prompted by no other motive than curiosity. Mrs. Smith maintained that she was prempted by a spirit of charity,
gaining the impression from the book that "Mrs. Wiggs" was in need of assistance. The case was adjourned until next Priday.
